NATION MUST BUY ALL FOOD FROM PACKER OCTOPUS SOON

Unless Action Is Taken Says Federal Trade Commission---Active in 775 Commodities From Fish to Public Utility Service and Reaching Out for More---May Ruin Competitors Without Complaint.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—The nation's food supply will soon be dominated by the "big five" meat packers unless steps are taken to prevent it, the federal trade commission stated in a report to the president on its investigation into the meat supply, made public today. The report, which is part of a series, treats "extent and growth of power of the five big packers in meat and other industries."

"A fair consideration of the big packers have followed and the position they have already reached must lead to the conclusion that they threaten the freedom of the market of the country's food industries and of the by-product industries linked there with," says the report. "The meat packer control of other foods will not require long in developing," it adds.

A Slimy History.

Declaring that the history of the packers' growth is interwoven with "illegal combinations, rebates and with undisclosed control of corporations," the commission urges the importance of full publicity of corporate ownership for all industries.

In the absence of adequate laws, the commission points out, "unfair competition may run its course to the goal of monopoly and accomplish the ruin of competitors without the secret ownership being complained of to the commission. The competitor is in jeopardy so long as he has not the knowledge of true ownership and the public is entitled to such knowledge."

Pointing out that the big five packers jointly or singly would have controlling interests of 576 companies and a minority in the 97 others, and undetermined interests in 93—a total of 762 companies—and that they produce or deal in some 775 commodities, largely food products, the report gives this picture of growing packer invasion into related and unrelated industries:

Wholesale Grocery Dealers.

"In addition to meat foods, they produce in such diverse quantities fish, tomatoes, leather and cotton seed oil, breakfast foods, pepsin and washing powders. Their branch houses are not only stations for the distribution of meat and poultry, but take on the character of wholesale grocery stores. Dealers in various kinds of produce and jobbers to special lines of trade."

The report states that the "big five" are interested in banks in which their competitor packing houses borrow money, as well as in companies supplying machinery and supplies to themselves and their competitors. They are principal dealers on the provision exchanges where fruit prices in standard cured animal products are determined, and they are also important factors in the leather industries, in oleomargarine and lard substitutes, in fertilizer, soap, glue, etc.

Own Grain and Shipping.

"Individuals of the Armour firm are owners of grain and elevator companies," continues the report, "and J. Ogden Armour is also a prominent factor in the American international corporation, with its shipping and ship-building interests, its import and export companies, in various lines, its interest in a company, organized to develop cattle raising, meat producing, its control of a large tea importing company and a sugar machinery corporation, and its minority stock in the United Fruit Company. Some of Swift & Company's subsidiaries are growing tropical fruits in Hawaii; a subsidiary of Wilson & Company has reached into the salmon fisheries, into Alaska; and Morris & Company has taken fishery concessions in the Gulf of Mexico.

Direct Banks of Strong Credit.

The "big five" the report shows, have control of large interests in public utility companies in Sioux City, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., South San Francisco, South St. Joseph, Mo., Hill City, Minn., Fort Worth and Chicago. Messrs. Armour, Swift, Morris and Wilson are also directors in banks affiliated closely with those strong at the sources of credit in the United States, it is set forth in the report.

The report goes into great detail regarding the operations of the "big five" in all phases of food production as well as in the field of by-products and unrelated industries.

Larkin's Shoe Sale Crowded.

Seldom before in this city's history was there ever a shoe sale as well attended as the one at John J. Larkin's store on lower Broadway, Thursday. Shoes were carried away by the satisfied and the rapid way in which people purchased proved that they found goods marked and selling at the low prices as advertised in the Freeman. Not only did the low prices attract the crowds to the sale, but also the high class of footwear offered. The sale will be continued all next week as shown by the ad in tonight's Freeman.

FIRST TO GO LAST TO COME

William D. Chipp, Formerly of Kingston, Remains In St. Nazaire as Regional Director of Y. M. C. A.—Did Much to Keep Boys From Homesickness.

The June 23rd, issue of "The Gangplank News," (the first real army daily in France), published at the embarkation camp at St. Nazaire, France, contains the following article relative to William D. Chipp, formerly of this city:

"William D. Chipp, regional Y. M. C. A. director, was one of the first welfare workers to arrive in France and expects to be among the last to return to the United States. He arrived in France in September, 1917, and immediately began work in a tent, functioning for hut 2, then being built. When the hut was finished, Mr. Chipp became hut secretary with a staff of three women and two men.

"Mr. Chipp organized a plan for the entertainment of outfits arriving in camp. They were taken to the hut during their first evening in camp, where a program was given and latter refreshments were served to the men. These meetings took on the character of a welcome and were intended to dispel the first feeling of homesickness suffered by new arrivals.

"The secretary continued in charg of hut 2, until March, 1918, when he took over the city hut at St. Nazaire. He later put in time with the troops at the front and in September was sent to the states to lecture on the overseas Y. M. C. A. He returned from this mission in January and was assigned for duty with the army of occupation, but W. S. Wallace, regional director at that time, succeeded in having the assignment changed. Since then he has been camp secretary at the embarkation camp until May 5th, when he succeded Mr. Wallace as regional director."

Another June issue of "The Gangplank" tells of Mr. Chipp, "The Reverend" when at home, performing the marriage ceremony of a Miss Hazel Hulva of Indianapolis, Ind., a canteen worker at the Motor Reception Park Y. M. C. A., to Rees A. Basham, of New York city, regional business director of the Y. M. C. A. The ceremony was performed at the rest hall at regional headquarters, following the civil marriage at the St. Nazaire city hall. The affair was evidently a very interesting and delightful one.

PLAYGROUND TO HOLD EXHIBITION

An exhibition of playground work will be given at Forsyth Park on Wednesday afternoon, July 29, at 2:45 o'clock, and a program of games, folk dances, and an athletic meet between Forsyth Park and McVey's Field is being arranged. Medals will be given for first, second and third places in the athletic meet. About two hundred and fifty children are now training to take part in the exhibition. Children desiring to take part must appear on the playgrounds within the next few days. The Municipal Band will also be present at the playground that afternoon and render a selected musical program. Further details will be announced later.

ERNEST WAGER DEAD.

High Falls Man Who Attempted Suicide Recently Dies at Sanitarium

Ernest Wager, the High Falls man who recently attempted suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun, died Thursday evening at the Benedictine Sanitarium to which he had been removed after the shooting. He was a victim of tuberculosis, and that fact had preyed on his mind before the shooting. The charge of shot blew off practically one side of his face.

Social Unrest and Its Cure.

Dr. Ramgwanath, pastor of St. James's Church, will discuss the above topic at the popular Sunday evening service. As we look over the world we find much of political and social unrest. Is this for good or ill? If it means ill, then what is the cure? There is another vital question, viz: What is to be the attitude of the Christian Church to social questions? To labor and capital? The service on Sunday night will last less than an hour. All will be heartily welcome.

R-34 MORE THAN HALF WAY HOME

Wireless Saying She Has Two-thirds of Fuel Left Allays Alarm Felt Over Inability of Radio to Pick Her Up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 11.—The British dirigible R-34 had flown nearly 1,800 miles on her homeward journey from Long Island to the British Isles at 8:10 o'clock this morning, New York time, and was 1,000 miles east of Cape Breton Island, off the northern coast of Nova Scotia.

A wireless to the admiralty at 3 o'clock this afternoon gave her position at that hour at 36 degrees north, 95 west.

With her homeward flight more than half completed, the big airship has nearly two-thirds of her gasoline supply left. When Major Scott reported his position to the admiralty at that hour, he said that the R-34 had consumed only 1,683 gallons of fuel and had 3,027 gallons remaining in her tanks.

The message received by the admiralty this afternoon was the first word from the R-34 in many hours. The absence of news from the British dirigible was beginning to cause some uneasiness because weather reports showed a storm area in mid-ocean. For two hours the air ministry flashed messages out upon the ocean without any response from the R-34 and it was feared that her wireless receiving apparatus was out of commission.

DUTCH STAND ON SOVEREIGNTY

Reply To Allied Note Indicates Holland Will Do As She Pleases About Guarding Kaiser—Blockade of Germany May Be Lifted Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 11.—Holland's reply to the warning of the allies to safeguard the ex-kaiser and the former crown prince was interpreted in some quarters today as presaging a negative attitude when formal demand is made for the surrender of the dethroned war lord and his heir.

The Dutch government, while expressing its consciousness of international obligations, declared it would exercise its sovereignty as it saw fit.

The blockade of Germany is still in force but it will be lifted as soon as the German courier arrives with the text of the national assembly resolution ratifying the peace treaty. A new German delegation is expected to arrive at Versailles during the day.

An allied mission, headed by Henry Morgenthau, of the United States, has left for Poland.

LUNCHEON FOR DR. CHANDLER

Poultney Bigelow, on "The Everglades" Host to Party, Including Physician Who Attended Him During Critical Illness.

On Thursday, Poultney Bigelow was considered sufficiently convalescent to go to the house boat, "The Everglades," lying off Kingston Point, which had been placed at the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow by their friend, Colonel Thompson, of the Navy League, until such time as Mr. Bigelow is able to enjoy a little cruise before returning to his home at Malden-on-the-Hudson. In honor of Dr. and Mrs. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow entertained at luncheon on "The Everglades," the guests being Dr. and Mrs. Chandler, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Higginson, Miss Haldane, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley, Mrs. Charles De La Vergne, Miss Helen Westbrook, Mrs. Ralph Harrison of Washington, Miss Wainwright and Miss Dwight of Boston and Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck. Admiral Higginson, acting as toastmaster, expressed the appreciation of all of Dr. Chandler's notable services in his efficient and careful care of his notable patient, to which Dr. Chandler responded, expressing his thanks for the kind words of appreciation. Mr. Bigelow, who was able to enjoy the luncheon with his friends, then himself very feelingly and beautifully expressed his profound appreciation of and gratitude for the doctor's untiring, devoted and skillful care, and further bespoke his sincere appreciation of the countless kindnesses and friendly solicitations of his many friends and neighbors during his illness. Following the luncheon, which was indeed a happy event, "The Everglades" steamed down to Poughkeepsie and back again, affording a delightful afternoon to all. Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow remained on the house boat and in a short time it is expected they will be rejoined by their host and will leave for the health-regaining cruise for Mr. Bigelow.

LAST HOPE OF WETS IS GONE

President Declares Self Powerless To Lift War Time Ban—League And Treaty Must First Be Disposed of and Germans Carry Out Part of Terms Which Will Take Until Jan. 1.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 11.—Hope of wet forces for a brief return to life of John Barleycorn was utterly crushed by the President Thursday when he made it known there can be no withdrawal of his war time dry proclamation until peace has been proclaimed.

The prohibition question seems to be securely tied up with the Peace Treaty and so with the League of Nations and, worse still, with the progress made with Germany in delivering war materials and carrying out the other provisions of the Peace Treaty.

As a result there is practically no hope that war time prohibition will be lifted before the dry amendment to the Constitution becomes effective next January and John Barleycorn is permanently laid to rest.

MOYLE FINDS CROOKED SCALES

City Sealer of Weights and Measures Digging Up Startling Facts Regarding Short-Weighing, and How It Is Worked.

While every one knows that butter, meat and other articles of food are soaring skyward, how many know whether they are getting full weight and measure for what they pay for? It is bad enough to have to pay double the cost of former years for articles of food, but when the merchant you deal with cheats you in the amount that he weighs out wouldn't it make you feel "hot under the collar."

These reflections are the result of meeting City Sealer of Weights and Measures William Moyle on the street this morning, and asking him what was his hurry, and the reply that he was busy finishing up his inspection and tests of the scales in the stores of the city. He has been spending two weeks on the job, and what he has found would fill a good-sized book, and incidentally make any one who caught a glimpse of the contents of the satchel Mr. Moyle is carrying ripe for being arrested for committing assault and battery on some of the merchants.

Fortunately Not All Dishonest.

"This," said Mr. Moyle, "does not imply that every merchant is using dishonest weights, but that a few are, and if conditions are not remedied after the warning I have issued it will mean that I will have to prosecute those who persist in short-weighing to their customers."

How Some Work the Game.

"Any objection to showing how some of the dishonest ones work the short-weighing game?" asked the reporter.

Mr. Moyle considered a moment thoughtfully, and replied, "Not at all, for the buying public are entitled to receive full weight for every cent they expend."

And then he opened his satchel and displayed to the reporter a few of the short weights he had confiscated and explained how the game was worked.

Even Use a Ham Bone.

The prize exhibit was a ham bone stripped of the meat and placed in a large envelope. This ham bone and envelope Mr. Moyle found hanging on a butcher's scale, and every time a piece of meat was weighed on the scale it meant that the butcher was short-weighing to his customer the weight of the ham bone. Of course the envelope with the bone was hung in such a manner that the customer could not see it and would not know it unless he stepped behind the counter and investigated.

A Beer Bottle Opener.

In another store he found a beer bottle opener hanging on the scale and to add to the weight some of the bottle caps from "soft stuff" bottles were tied together with the opener, making the total weight about two ounces. Deduct two ounces from a pound of butter, and butter selling at 70 cents a pound and it means a saving for the merchant of nearly 10 cents.

Another Trick.

According to Mr. Moyle another trick is that of weighing both the tray and the paper with the butter, and not deducting for the weight of the same, as required by law. As the tray and paper would weigh at least an ounce, even on an honest scale it would men a loss to the consumer.

Scales Shy an Ounce.

The majority of short weight scales found by Mr. Moyle, or scales that had been fixed to short-weigh, were so fixed that every sale of a pound of food meant an ounce in the merchant's favor and sometimes it ran as high as two ounces.

An Ounce On Every Package.

Figuring that every package weighed on the scales was an ounce short, at the least, and that during the day a thousand packages were weighed you can easily figure the amount of money the consumer loses in a day by dishonest measures.

Lightening the Weights.

Another means of short-weighing to customers was to take a two ounce weight and remove all the lead so that it would weigh a trifle over an ounce. Mr. Moyle had several of these kind of weights that he had confiscated the past week in his possession.

Is a Big Job.

Mr. Moyle, who has been spending the past two weeks making a survey and test of every scale in the city, carries a test scale and weights with him and tests every scale and also every weight used in the scale. It will be seen that his is a big job, and takes time, but it pays the consumer to have such tests made for it assures him of honest weight.

Many Scales Found Accurate.

As Mr. Moyle stated, the fact that there are some merchants in Kingston who short-weight their customers, is no indication that every merchant is dishonest, for the large majority of merchants are honest and Mr. Moyle by careful tests has found that their scales are accurate.

Where scales have been found inaccurate Mr. Moyle has called the merchant's attention to it and tagged it so that it would not be used until repairs were made, and then when repairs are completed the merchant calls up Mr. Moyle, who makes another inspection before placing the O. K. on the scale.

A letter calling attention of merchants to the provisions of the state law has been sent out by Mr. Moyle and will be found in another column.

RECORD SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITS DESPITE DRIVES AND PRICES

Three Banks Here Have Nearly Two and a Quarter Million Dollars More Than Four Years Ago---Outstrip Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

During the past four years Kingston residents have taken part in all of the big war drives, have over-subscribed the city's quota in every war activity drive, and also gone over the top in all of the five Liberty loan drives. Incidentally those facts have not prevented the city increasing the savings bank accounts during the four years just $2,208,068.19.

Four years ago there were 22,705 depositors in the three savings banks of the city, and today that number has been jumped to 24,065, an increase in the number of depositors of 1,360. In 1915 at this time there was $12,946,577.45 deposited in the three savings banks and today, just four years later, the amount has been increased to $15,154,645.64.

From these figures some might think that the increase in bank deposits was due to the wealthy depositors, but when it is taken into consideration that the average individual account of the 24,065 depositors is just $630 it will be easily seen that the vast majority of the depositors are the working people of Kingston.

In addition to oversubscribing the five Liberty Loan drives, the residents of Kingston have been buying War Savings Stamps as well as contributing liberally to every worthy object aside from raising the funds to carry on war work.

The three savings banks in Kingston, the Ulster County Savings Bank, the Kingston Savings Bank and the Rondout Savings Bank, are managed by a board of thirteen trustees to each bank, who under the state banking law are not permitted to borrow any money of the funds of the bank, or to receive any pay, except the officers who give all of their time and attention to the bank's business. It might be added that the trustees of the three banks are not permitted to loan money except on real estate and such securities as are named in the banking law.

The deposits in Kingston's savings banks are much larger than the amounts deposited in either Poughkeepsie or Newburgh.

Halper & Friedman, who had a long term lease on the Mansion House, have just completed the purchase of the building. The Mansion House is occupied by the Mansion House Garage on the first floor, while the second floor is used by the plant of the new owners, who removed there from West Union street, several months ago. The firm of Halper & Friedman have had the entire second floor altered to suit their needs as a factory.

PROTESTED GAME STANDS AS PLAYED

The board of managers of the Twilight League held a meeting Thursday evening at the city hall at which time the question of the protested game between the Crescents and Independents was discussed. The game was recently played at Forsyth Park and won by the Crescents. The Independents protested the game on the grounds that the diamond was soggy and unfit to play on due to a heavy rain storm. The protest was denied and the game played counts. Other matters relative to the league were discussed.

There will be a game in the Twilight League this evening when the Independents play the Tigers at McVey's Field.

Hudson Valley Roads.

Among the roads mentioned in the latest condition report of the state department of highways are: Albany-New York, east side—Livingston-Hudson under repair, one-half open for traffic, many rough spots. Peekskill-Fishkill—McCabe's hill, ten miles north of Peekskill being repaired, use care. West side—Coeymans-New Baltimore closed; good via Ravena, also under contract but open. Saugerties—Repairing bridge over Esopus creek, detour via West Shore railroad and Cockburn. Delaware county: Margaretville-Fleischmanns can be used locally. Through traffic go via Phoenicia, Lexington, Grand Gorge, all macadam.

Troopers After Speeders.

Following complaints by George D. Babbitt, president of the Albany Automobile Club, Major George F. Chandler, state superintendent of police, ordered a special patrol of the Cairo-Catskill highway, to check reckless driving. Mr. Babbitt, in a letter to Major Chandler, said he had received several complaints of fast driving on that section of highway. The special patrol will be detailed from "G" troop, state police at Albany.

The state troopers are beginning a campaign for the enforcement of the glaring headlight law.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 11, 1919.

President Wilson's speech to the Senate Thursday on the peace treaty and the league of nations reminds us of Holmes' apostrophe to the katydid:

> Thou say'st an undisputed thing
> In such a solemn way.

Of course everybody wants peace and wants some sort of association of nations which will prevent future wars so far as is practicable, and there is no occasion for wasting time in emphasizing this fact. The great issue is whether the particular form of agreement which Wilson brought home is calculated to effect its ostensible purpose and whether the interests of the United States as a sovereign nation are sufficiently guarded. On these points the President did not touch. He attempted no reply to the grave criticisms made by our foremost statesmen. If we could exchange this display of rhetoric for common sense reasoning it would be a good thing for America and for the world. When a man is cold he desires to warm himself, but it is an undue exercise of authority to send him to hell when he prefers to stand by a radiator.

OLD AND NEW FREEDOM.

Intelligent modern Englishmen show none of the embarrassment that might be expected when they listen to the reading of the Declaration of Independence with its overwhelming indictment of the tyranny of a German king of England. This is because in their view freedom has come to them as well as to Americans since the days of George III and because they regard themselves as part of the democratic England of today which is not responsible for the feudal England of the past. This explains the hearty congratulations they extend to America on Independence Day. Such congratulations this year have of course been less concerned with the long-established freedom of America than with the new freedom brought to the world through the triumphs of the Allies in the recent war against predatory Germany.

Thus Lord Bryce expressed the hope "that the two peoples as they have stood by one another in the fight to save freedom for the Old World and New may continue to stand together to work for freedom, peace and progress everywhere." In the view of Field Marshal Haig, "the chief lesson of the war must be the essential brotherhood of those who, sharing the same language, fought side by side in mutual confidence and admiration for the same ideals." After noting that the "mighty efforts of America" in the late war "strikingly demonstrated her marvelous growth since the day when she first became an independent nation," Lord Reading said: "English speaking people rejoice in this vast increase of power and influence of the United States in the world, for they know that the cherished ideals of the American people and their lofty conception of liberty will ever make for the progress of humanity and never serve the forces of reaction."

THE LOVE OF A FIGHT

All the world loves a lover and almost all the world loves a fight. If not, why should practically everybody stop to look on with a broad or faint smile even at an unskilled street fight, be it only of two jeering newsboys? If not, why should an enormous crowd representing all classes of human society pay excessive prices to sit for hours in a torrid temperature in order to watch with intense excitement a stubborn contest between two trained prize fighters? The ancient gladiator fought to the death. The modern matador risks his life in order to entertain spectators with the killing of a fierce and goaded bull. The same kind of thrill is lacking in our prize fights because they are not life and death affairs. What is it, then, that fascinates ringside thrones? Surely it is not merely the brutal spectacle of the heavy physical punishment which one trained "boxer" inflicts upon another and his suffering in turn.

It must be rather the love of an exciting contest between skilled athlete and the keen desire to see the best man win. The true sportsman is stirred by all forms of sport the most thrilling is a fight, not to kill, but to win. Just after the greatest of wars in which more than seven million men were lain, one might expect most men to turn away with disgust and aversion from the needless brutality of a professional prize fight, forgetting that the great war has not changed the natures of men. An exciting contest, a tense struggle, particularly a man to man fight—these remain absorbing and exhilarating spectacles for most men because most men in one way or another find keen pleasure in sports.

CRISPELL KILLED BY ELECTRICITY

On Ferry Street Thursday at Central Hudson Office—Was Unloading Car of Coal and Came in Contact With Portable Coal Hoist.

Solomon D. Crispell of No. 132 Clinton avenue was instantly killed by an electric shock shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday evening while at work for the Central Hudson Steamboat Company helping in the unloading of a car of soft coal into the company's coal pockets. He was working with Jacob Sessler of No. 45 Murray street, and Ralph Stewart of No. 61 Murray street.

The three men were busy shoveling coal over the side of the car onto a portable electric coal hoist, or conveyor, which carried the coal from the ground to the top of the coal pile by means of a series of buckets on a belt. The coal car stood on a side track of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad on Ferry street opposite a board fence separating the Central Hudson property from the street at the lower end of the company's warehouse.

It was about 6 o'clock or a few minutes after that Crispell got out of the car, leaving his two companions at work. They missed him as he did not return and glancing over the side of the car they saw his body outstretched lying across the bottom of the conveyor. Stewart immediately jumped out of the car and, rushing to the switch, turned it off.

They then removed the body and Coroner E. A. Kelly who was in the vicinity seeing the crowd assemble stopped to investigate, and found that Crispell was dead. He had Dr. A. A. Stern make an examination of the body. There were only two marks on the body. One that looked like a burn over one eye, and the other burn was on the leg.

As far as known no one was an eye witness of the tragedy. It is thought that the electric motor which ran the portable hoist was not working properly and that the entire hoist had become charged with electricity and as Crispell attempted to step over the base of the hoist he came in contact with it and falling across it received the entire charge of electricity which caused instant death.

That death was instantaneous is proven by the fact that his fellow workmen were unaware of anything happening out of the way until they missed Crispell and glancing out of the car saw his dead body

Sessler, one of the men working unloading the car at the time said this morning that on Monday he happened to touch a part of the hoist with a coal shovel and received such a severe shock that he was hurled five feet away. That led to the hoist being thoroughly overhauled and made safe, as supposed.

Thursday was a damp day, due to the rain fall, and it is likely that every part of the metal that went into the makeup of the coal hoist was impregnated with the electric current.

Solomon D. Crispell, was born in Old Hurley, in 1854, his mother, Sarah S. Crispell, aged 96 years, still residing on the Crispell farm. Besides his mother, he is survived by his wife; they residing at 132 Clinton avenue, one daughter, Louise, wife of James Tobey; one son, Dr. Raymond S. Crispell; two brothers, John B., of Hurley and Peter G., of 143 Pine street, this city; five sisters, Catherine, Hannah G., Blendina, Elizabeth and Anna T. Mr. Crispell had been a resident of Kingston since a young man. For several years he was employed by the late Theodore Spore and John H. Eltinge, in their crockery and glassware department in the Bernstein building, corner Wall and North Front streets, and was with the firm when they moved nearly opposite on Wall street, and continued with Eltinge & Schoonmaker. Later he started "The Little Store" for himself on Broadway near Downs street. For a time, later, he was employed by Rose-Gorman-Rose. Until about two weeks ago for a year or more he was employed by the Kingston Gas and Electric Co., on Broadway, but as the young man whose place he had taken had returned from war, he resigned in order that the returning soldier could take back the position. He assumed the position with the Central-Hudson Steamboat Co., where he lost his life on Wednesday.

Will Begin Monday Before Commissioner Fitzsimmons.

Hearings on the charges against Harrie McK. Curtis, district attorney of Greene county, filed by Frank J. Collier of Cobleskill, will begin Monday morning, July 21, at 11 o'clock, in the jury room of the court house at Catskill. This was decided at a conference held Thursday afternoon between Frank J. Collier, George Lawyer, his attorney, and William T. Byrne, attorney for District Attorney Curtis, at the office of William E. Fitzsimmons, a special commissioner appointed by Governor Alfred E. Smith, to hear the charges.

PROPOSES DEATH FOR PROFITEERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 11.—The proposal made in the French chamber of deputies to impose the death penalty upon food and clothing profiteers may be approved by a report of the commission that has been investigating the situation in Great Britain, it was learned today.

The most drastic control is forecast by the newspapers in their comment upon the rise in prices.

George N. Barnes, famous English labor leader, in a speech at Cardiff, Wales, declared that the cabinet will make known its decision regarding profiteering within the next few days. Mr. Barnes is minister without portfolio in the Lloyd George government.

RAG TIME ON R-34.

Columbia Grafonola Accompanies Dirigible on Return Trip.

Up in the Atlantic air lanes on the way over here American rag-time was played at meal times and at other leisure moments by the crew of the R-34. "Our gramophone has been a God-send to us during meal times," wrote Lieut. Shotter in his diary. "We have quite a lot of American 'rags.' I saw two of the younger members of the crew do a rag of sorts." Father Neptune must have poked his head up his head inquiringly at the unusual sound and commotion in the clouds above him until an unfortunate accident to the mainspring interrupted the musical performances.

May Settle Denver Strike.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., July 11.—An agreement has been reached between the city of Denver and the officials of the Tramway company, which, if accepted by its striking employes, who have successfully tied up the street car system for more than three days, will result in a settlement of the strike.

Miners Union Head Rests.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11—Frank J. Hays, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is in a sanitarium here, taking a rest cure following strenuous labor connected with his recent trip to France as a member of an American labor commission delegated to visit the peace conference.

M. P.'s Oppose Nationalization.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 11.—Two hundred and fifty members of parliament have signed a proclamation opposing nationalization of industries, said the parliamentary correspondent of the Daily Express today. A new drastic scheme of rationing is said to be forthcoming soon.

Will H. Hays Not Ill.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 11—Will H. Hays, chairman of the national Republican committee, today characterized as absurd a report that he had suffered a nervous breakdown and he had been forced to go to a sanitarium. "I never was in better health in my life," said Hays.

Paris Waiters Strike.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Several from this place spent the Fourth at Liberty

While Mrs Betsey Dulaff was picking strawberry's Monday afternoon she saw a swarm of bees coming out her place She followed them across the bridge along the road on what is known as Van Wagner place, where the bees rested on a maple tree, as there seemed to be no one about who cared to bother with them They were left until next afternoon, when Jay [illegible] and George Bradshaw hived them Mr Bradshaw took them home with him that night and they seem to be very contented. The next day another swarm came to Riley Van Aken's and took up their abode through a hole under the barn south to Mr. Van Aken's carpet Both swarms apparently came from the woods as no one near here has been Worth Seeing.

We don't know much about the circus that's coming, but we hope it's the one that attended mid time ago. "There was won fellow," he said, "that beat all the rest. Sure, he balanced a ladder on his nose, climbed up to the top and pulled the ladder up after him."—Boston Transcript.

The Chrysanthemum.

It is believed that the first specimen of the city anthemum in Europe was reared at [illegible] Fulhamic gardens, London, in 1764 [illegible] Dwarf's rise into favor was chiefly due to the Stoke Newington Chrysanthemum society, which held the first exhibition of blossoms in 1846 and served as a school of chrysanthemum culture for the world.

FEW SIGN FOR LEGION CHARTER

Since the meeting Tuesday evening at the Armory when 29 veterans of the World war signed the application for a charter creating Kingston Post of the American Legion, only eight other former service men have come forward and attached their signatures.

It is certain that new members will come in rapidly when the post in organized, but it seems the boys are a little slow compared with other places, Saugerties, for instance, where the first post in Ulster county has already been organized with 100 members.

About 1,400 men from Kingston alone were in some branch of the service and this ought to mean more than one post comprising men banded together in the interests of patriotism, to see that their sacrifices are not forgotten and to keep green the memory of their fallen comrades.

The charter will be at the State Armory today and Sunday. Tomorrow it will be at the store of R. C. Dittus at 25 Broadway. The American Legion is open to all who saw service in the recent war. The charter will be available for signatures until Monday of next week.

The new signers are:
John N. Cordts, Lindsley and Delaware avenues.
Lester Wolff, 91 Abeel street.
R. T. Fuller, 41 Lafayette avenue.
John M. Cashin, 16 Clinton avenue
Paul Thiel, 26 Foxhall avenue.
Harry Halverson, 109 S. Manor avenue.
William B. North, Sleightsburgh.
Peter Baycha, 348 Broadway.

When Guests are Coming

What a delightful flurry of preparation through the house! Appetizing odors come from the kitchen. In the dining room, daughter is getting out the fine china. How beautiful the room looks with the crystalware sparkling on the sideboard—the silver basket of fruit on the polished table.

Or is the picture a gloomy one? Does the news of coming guests bring uneasiness instead of pleasure?—the realization of things left undone that ought to have been done—of a dining room hopelessly "down at the heels"? For it's so easy to put things off to a more convenient season.

Let's Help Fix Up That Dining Room NOW!

Lay's Saturday Sale

June has gone with a volume of business to its credit that has put this market's records for all previous Junes far in the shade, and this in the face of extortionate prices exacted by the meat barons. And now comes July, and we have every reason to believe that it is going to prove as successful as the month past. We began the month with a bang—with busy days' stirring meat sales. Prices have been lowered to the lowest level without taking into consideration the steadily increasing quotations of wholesalers. There is no such thing as "low prices" when speaking of meats. We have cut them, however, as deeply as present conditions will permit.

A Vacation-Time Supper.

A church supper wholly prepared and served by the men of the Baraca Class of Wurts Street Baptist Church Sunday school will be held at the Wurts Street Baptist chapel on Wednesday, July 16th, from 5 to 8 o'clock. Their friends are urged to take a vacation from preparing the evening meal on this date and come and enjoy a vacation-time supper consisting of cold roast veal and boiled ham, potato salad, pickles and olives, tomato and lettuce salad, iced tea and hot coffee, with cake and watermelon for dessert. The women of the lower end of the city are watching critically the ability of these men to carry through their project but the men are going right on with their preparations as though preparing and serving a church supper without female assistance were a common occurrence. The aforesaid ladies intend to be present to see if the men can do it and their husbands also intend to be there to cheer and encourage their brethren in their unique undertaking. The committee in charge of the supper consists of Harold Frisell, Frank Tongue, Sam Ford, Kerry, William Van Valkenburgh, Dwight McEntee and Charles E. Powell and they are determined to make the supper an event long to be remembered by all who attend.

Two Famous Brochures.

The Secretary of the Interior has issued the following invitation to the American people to visit the National Parks and National Monuments.

To the American People:

Uncle Sam asks you to be his guest. He has prepared for you the choice places of this continent—places of grandeur, beauty and of wonder. He has built roads through the deep-cut canyons and beside happy streams, which will carry you into these places in comfort, and has provided lodgings and food in the most distant and inaccessible places that you might enjoy yourself and realize as little as possible the rigors of the pioneer traveler's life. These are for you. They are the playgrounds of the people. To see them is to make more hearty your affection and admiration for America.

KRIPPLEBUSH.

Kripplebush, July 10.—Farmers are commencing to gather their harvests in this section.

A number from this place attended the circus in Kingston on Monday.

A swarm of honey bees were the unwelcome guests of Mrs. Carrie Wilkins one day recently. The bees gathered in several rooms but departed after being introduced to a shower of kerosene.

The Fourth passed off very quietly here, some attending the Kaaterskill celebration while others enjoyed themselves at various places.

Sugar for canning and other purposes seems to be a scarce article around here, and many people are complaining because of its scarcity.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Christian have returned from a few days' visit out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Van Benschoten of Stone Ridge Heights visited Jason Krom on Sunday.

Henry L. Hasbrouck and family of New Paltz visited relatives in this place on Sunday last.

Looking for a Bargain.

Elizabeth was thrifty. She had her picture taken, and her mother went for the proofs. "How much are they, please?" asked Elizabeth, and the photographer answered: "One dollar and a half for the original and 50 cents each for duplicates. Elizabeth pondered a moment, then said: "I think we'll take six duplicates, please."

Great Power of Hope.

Ever since the inspiration of hope your energy has no hope. The power of hope upon human character and happiness is wonderful.

"DIRECT BITE TEETH"

After years of experimenting our laboratories have discovered a direct bite set of artificial teeth. These plates improve the sense of taste and insure perfect enunciation and articulation. The teeth absolutely cannot be discerned from natural teeth. These teeth because of the direct bite have three times the biting strength of ordinary plates. Are you now wearing artificial teeth? If so, we strongly advise you to call and investigate this new plate.
